

The Walking Purchase

In 1737 four Delaware Chiefs agreed to carry out an old deed which would allow the sons of William Penn to purchase as much land as a man could walk in a day and a half. The Chiefs assumed this would be about 40 miles. Instead James Logan, provincial secretary, hired runners to run on a path that had been prepared for them ahead of time, and the one runner to finish the course traveled 70 miles. The resulting loss to the Native Americans was over 1.2 million acres.

Speaker Doug Miller has worked for the PHMC for over 20 years, including time at Graeme Park. He is currently the Site Administrator at Pennsbury Manor.

Enjoy a continental breakfast, lecture on the walking purchase, and a hot and cold lunch buffet. Tours of the historic Keith House will also be available after lunch. Reserved event. $25/person; $20/members.

Lappawinsoe, one of the Lenape Chiefs who signed the Walking Purchase Treaty, is also documented as being the first Native American portrayed in an oil painting. Painting attributed to Gustavus Hesselius
